The story that Amaya is writing is called "Don't Die Amaya Black." It is a story about a group of friends who are being stalked by a killer. The friends are all different, but they are all united by their fear of the killer. They don't know who the killer is, or why they are being targeted, but they know that they need to find a way to stop them before it's too late.

As Amaya writes the story, she begins to realize that the characters in the story are more than just fictional characters. They are reflections of her own friends and family. She sees herself in the character of Amaya, the main character of the story. Amaya is a strong and independent young woman, but she is also vulnerable and scared. She is trying to find her way in the world, and she is struggling to come to terms with the loss of her mother.

As Amaya continues to write the story, she begins to realize that the story is not just a story. It is a warning. The killer in the story is a real person, and they are coming for Amaya. Amaya knows that she needs to find a way to stop the killer before it's too late, but she doesn't know how. She is alone and scared, but she is determined to find a way to survive.
